Facilitators/Presenters

Michael Johnson, Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs
Paul Dosal, Senior Vice President for Student Success

Summary of Key Observations/Recommendations

- Trustees will receive updates on the completion campaigns initiated in the spring of 2024.
- Paul Dosal, Senior Vice President, will also brief the Trustees on plans for continued improvements in the 2024-2025 academic year.

Additional Background

- The senior vice president presented on the completion campaigns at the February 2024 meeting.
- The university has prioritized the four-year First Time in College (FTIC) graduation rate because it is one of the last remaining preeminence metrics.

Implementation Plan

The completion campaigns contributed to significant improvements and the leadership of Student Success and Well-Being is making adjustments to the campaigns to accelerate our progress toward strategic goals.

Resource Considerations

Strategic investments have been made in a number of key areas to accelerate our drive to preeminence, positioning UCF for additional state resources.
