INFORMATION:

State law authorizes the governing boards of the four-year higher education institutions to establish tuition rates. Tuition rates for all student categories except resident undergraduates may increase or decrease without limit.

Tuition rate proposals for the Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine are being considered on a timeline separate from other tuition rates. The College is proposing a 3.3 percent increase for academic year 2025-26, which would increase the current $42,118 rate by $1,390 to $43,508.

This rate will be finalized and presented to the Board for action at the March 2025 Board of Regents meeting after gathering student feedback on the proposal.

It is expected that tuition rates for continuing students will increase annually to support inflationary costs and University initiatives. Each year tuition rates for continuing students will be presented to the Board for review and approval. Beginning for the 2026-27 school year, differential rates for the entering cohort of students are proposed to provide additional critical financial support to the Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine.
